

PRESS RELEASE: July 20, 2007

HOTEL UNVEILS THEMED BREAKS

Birmingham's most stylish hotel has launched a range of new packages to entice visitors to experience the city – from culture vultures and science fanatics to those looking for a romantic get-away.

The Radisson SAS Hotel, in Beetham Tower, has unveiled three new breaks – Arts & Culture, Fall in Love and Go Enviro Mental.

The Arts & Culture package promotes the exciting array of exhibitions across the city and includes accommodation at the First Class hotel for one night in a standard room, breakfast, dinner in Filini – named by The Times newspaper as one of the top ten pasta restaurants in the UK – and entrance to local exhibitions. It is priced at £154 per room.

For those interested in science, The Go Enviro Mental break features one night in two inter-connecting rooms (sleeps two adults and two children), breakfast and Fairtrade products in the room upon arrival. Priced at £238, it also includes entrance to Think Tank, Birmingham's impressive science museum which houses multimedia displays, a 360 degree domed Planetarium and an IMAX screen.

Finally you can treat yourself and your loved one to a fabulous romantic getaway. The Fall in Love offer, priced at £399, includes one night in a one bedroom suite or Business Class room, flowers, champagne and chocolates in the room and dinner in Filini.

Each package runs until December 31, 2007 and prices are based on two people sharing a room. Visitors can also earn Goldpoints with each offer.

For more details contact The Radisson SAS Hotel Birmingham on 0121 654 6000.

NOTE TO EDITORS

For more details or additional images contact Lisa Piddington at Scarlet Media on 0121 680 1089 or email: lisapidd@aol.